SUMMARY

A total of 927 newspaper editorial articles were indexed across seven major Pakistani English newspapers during the month of October 2025. The Pakistan Observer (17.91%) ranked highest, reflecting its consistent focus on national and international reporting. It was closely followed by the Business Recorder (17.05%) and The News (16.50%), both of which demonstrated strong editorial coverage across diverse domains. Mid-range representation was found in the Dawn (13.38%), The Express Tribune (12.95%) and Daily Times (12.52%), indicating balanced contributions to national discourse, while The Nation (9.71%) contributed the least, suggesting comparatively limited coverage or indexing activity during the observed month. The national coverage prioritized international diplomacy, governance, economic stability, and security, with International Relations (76 entries) leading the agenda largely influenced by Pakistan's proactive diplomatic posture, especially in the Middle East and its strategic alliances. Global coverage highlights a conflict-centric and justice-oriented international news agenda in Pakistani newspapers. The overwhelming emphasis on Islamic world conflicts and West-Muslim world relations (52 entries) underscores strong editorial concern over Gaza/Palestine, Israeli actions, and international powers' support, which were widely portrayed as emblematic of global double standards in human rights, international law, and humanitarian intervention.

Newspapers’ and Their Number of Entries

Newspapers Editorial Coverage at National Level

The indexed newspaper’s editorial entries provide a comprehensive overview of the topics covered in the Pakistani context, highlighting the diversity of issues addressed across seven major newspapers (Data attached as Annexure – I). Overall, it covers 30 various topics at national level in these seven Pakistani newspapers in English language (Figure 1).

The analysis of national topical coverage across seven major Pakistani newspapers in October 2025 reveals significant editorial focus on political, diplomatic, economic, and security-related issues, reflecting the prevailing national and international context of the month. International Relations (76 entries) emerged as the most frequently covered subject. This dominance reflects Pakistan’s active and visible diplomatic engagement at the regional and global levels. A major contributing factor is Pakistan’s vibrant role in the Middle East, including extensive coverage of Pakistan–Saudi Arabia relations, cooperation with Gulf countries, regional security developments, and broader Middle Eastern geopolitical dynamics. These issues carry strategic, economic, and religious significance, explaining their sustained prominence in national newspapers. The second most prominent category was Government (57 entries), indicating heightened media attention toward governance matters, policy decisions, administrative reforms, and political leadership. Closely following were Economy (49 entries) and Terrorism and Extremism (45 entries), highlighting ongoing economic challenges, fiscal debates, inflation, and security concerns, alongside counterterrorism efforts and internal stability issues. Environmental concerns also received notable coverage, with Environment (39 entries), reflecting growing awareness of climate change, environmental degradation, smog, floods, and sustainability challenges in Pakistan. Similarly, Social Issues (27 entries) and Defence (27 entries) show the press’s focus on societal challenges and national security preparedness. Education (26 entries) further underscores continued discussion around educational reforms, access, and quality.

Topics related to governance structures and development featured moderately, including War, Peace and Security (23 entries), Power Resources and Natural Resources (23 entries), Science and Technology (21 entries), and Law, Legislature and Judiciary (21 entries). Health-related matters were also covered with Health (20 entries), reflecting ongoing public health discussions and policy responses. Economic infrastructure and political processes were addressed through Banking and Finance (19 entries) and Politics (14 entries), while regional geopolitical sensitivities were evident in coverage of Kashmir Azad and Jammu Kashmir (13 entries). Media-related discourse appeared in Current Issues (11 entries), Media and Journalism (10 entries), and Islam (10 entries), illustrating attention to ideological, professional, and contemporary national debates.

Lower-frequency yet socially significant topics included Agriculture (8 entries), Human Rights (7 entries), and Language, Literature and Rhetoric (7 entries), followed by Biography and Autobiography (6 entries), Civil Service (6 entries), Women’s Rights (6 entries), and Arts (6 entries). These themes, though less dominant numerically, represent ongoing cultural and rights-based discussions. Finally, minimal coverage was observed for Sports (All sports) (3 entries), Crimes (3 entries), Accountability (2 entries), and Ethnicity (2 entries), indicating comparatively limited editorial focus on these areas during the study period.

Overall, the distribution of entries highlights that Pakistani newspapers in October 2025 prioritized international diplomacy, governance, economic stability, and security, with International Relations (76 entries) leading the agenda largely influenced by Pakistan’s proactive diplomatic posture, especially in the Middle East and its strategic alliances.

Newspaper Editorial Coverage at Global Level

The international-level coverage across the indexed newspapers provides a detailed insight into the global focus and priorities reflected in the media. Overall, there are 29 various topics have been covered at global level in these seven Pakistani newspapers in English language (Figure 2).

Most notably, “OIC, Islamic World Conflicts, West vs Muslim World” (52 entries) emerged as the most dominant international topic. This exceptionally high frequency is primarily linked to extensive media coverage of the Gaza/Palestine crisis, particularly the perceived double standards of Western powers in response to what Pakistani newspapers frequently framed as genocide and Israeli atrocities in Gaza, supported politically and militarily by the United States. The issue resonated strongly within Pakistani media due to its humanitarian, religious, and geopolitical dimensions, as well as its implications for international law, human rights, and global power asymmetries. The second most prominent category was India Politics, Policies, Conflicts, and Foreign Affairs (45 entries), reflecting sustained concern over regional rivalries, cross-border tensions, Kashmir-related developments, and India's strategic posture in South Asia. This was followed by World Politics (30 entries), indicating broad coverage of global power shifts, leadership dynamics, and international diplomatic developments beyond immediate regional concerns.

Significant attention was also given to World Conflicts (21 entries) and Business FDI (Foreign Direct Investment) (21 entries). Coverage of global conflicts reflects the unstable international security environment, while attention to foreign direct investment underscores Pakistan's interest in global economic trends and their implications for national development. Historical and contextual understanding featured through History, Archaeology, Geography and Travel (16 entries) and World History, Archaeology, Geography and Travel (13 entries), suggesting an effort by newspapers to situate contemporary conflicts and political developments within broader historical and geographical narratives.

Moderate coverage was observed for World Financial Institutions (IMF, World Bank, ADB, AIIB) (8 entries), highlighting international financial governance and economic diplomacy, while World Social Issues (6 entries) and World Science and Technology (5 entries) indicate selective attention to global social transformations and technological advancements. World and Regional Organizations such as the UN and UNESCO (4 entries) further reflect ongoing engagement with multilateral diplomacy and international governance mechanisms. Lower-frequency but still relevant topics included World Health-related Issues (3 entries), World History, Archaeology, Geography and Travel – Ancient Civilizations (3 entries), and Judicial Systems and the International Court of Justice (2 entries)—the latter particularly significant in the context of legal proceedings and international accountability debates related to Gaza. Minimal coverage was noted for World Ethnic Groups (2 entries), World Nuclear Programs, Treaties and Agencies including CTBT, NPT, and IAEA (1 entry), and World Archaeology, Geography and Travel (1 entry), indicating comparatively limited editorial focus on these themes during the month.

Overall, the pattern of international coverage in October 2025 highlights a conflict-centric and justice-oriented international news agenda in Pakistani newspapers. The overwhelming emphasis on Islamic world conflicts and West–Muslim world relations (52 entries) underscores strong editorial concern over Gaza/Palestine, Israeli actions, and U.S. support, which were widely portrayed as emblematic of global double standards in human rights, international law, and humanitarian intervention. This orientation reflects both public sentiment in Pakistan and the press’s role in amplifying voices critical of perceived global inequities and power politics.
